

Assist. prof. dr. Jaklin Svetoslavova Doncheva – Dilova

Born on January 19, 1991 in Sofia - Bulgaria.

Had completed primary and secondary education with excellent results in Italy (Turin) – “Lyceum of Communications and Technology” with the study of two foreign languages – English and German.

Graduated Medicine at the Medical University of Sofia in 2019 with very good results.

From March 2020 she is specializing doctor in the Clinic of Occupational Diseases at the University Hospital “St. Ivan Rilski” – Sofia.

From October 2020, after passing a competition, she is an assistant professor at the Department of Occupational Diseases and is responsible for the educational activity.

She conducts seminars and practical exercises on Occupational Diseases of Bulgarian and English language students and trainee doctors.

Dr. Doncheva – Dilova speaks fluently Italian and English.

Dr. Doncheva – Dilova has an European Computer Driving Licence (ECDL), Preliminary English Test (PET) from University of Cambridge and certificates for participation in various medico scientific conferences.

Her scientific interests are in the field of Occupational Pathology and Neurology.